

Pyber observable trends:

1.Total number of rides per city is lowest for Rural, greater for Suburban and greatest for Urban cities. Average fare is inversely proportional to total number of rides. Thus, Average fare is lowest for Urban cities and so on.

2.Highest number of rides were taken in Urban cities constituting 68.4 % of total rides, followed by Sub-urban (26.3%) and Rural (5.3%). Also, highest total fare was collected in Urban cities and lowest in Rural cities.

3.Urban cities have highest number of drivers (80.9% of total), followed by Sub-urban (16.5%) and Rural (2.6%).